

PREPARATION OF generic, compounded, Benzamycin GEL:

Because refrigeration is required for Benzamycin after it is mixed, the product is shipped to you with the necessary ingredients supplied separately.

The contents of your package includes:

- 1 jar of benzoyl peroxide gel
- 1 plastic vial containing erythromycin powder
- 2 vials containing alcohol
- 1 plastic stirring instrument

The amount of each component is pre-measured for easy preparation.

Step 1. Tap the vial containing the erythromycin powder to loosen the powder and make sure all the powder is at the bottom of the vial. Add the entire contents of the 2 vials containing ethyl alcohol to the vial containing the erythromycin powder. Close the lid tightly and shake until all of the powder is COMPLETELY dissolved. This may take 2-4 minutes of shaking. Hold up to the light to see if it is completely dissolved.

Step 2. Add the alcohol/erythromycin mixture that was prepared in Step 1, all at once, to the jar containing the benzoyl peroxide gel while stirring slowly with the plastic stirring instrument.

Step 3. Use the stirring instrument to stir the final mixture until it is homogeneous in appearance (approximately 1 to 1.5 minutes). Store in the refrigerator until needed for use. Once mixed, the final preparation has a shelf life of 3 months.
